FLOWER SEED

Your orders for items mentioned in this list will receive prompt attention and will be shipped without delay. We are sure you will find, upon examination, that we are able to supply many short items.

Our prices for 1953 crop are now ready. If you have not already received them, please ask.

F<sub>1</sub> HYBRID VEGETABLE SEEDS

By availing yourselves of the facilities of T. Sakata & Company, Yokohama, Japan, you can supply your customers with tip top quality F<sub>1</sub> Hybrid Vegetable, as well as flower seeds at prices which will show an attractive profit and make handling them worthwhile.

The production of hand pollinated first generation hybrid vegetable seeds is a tedious and exacting process, requiring a great amount of time, skill and patience. Thus the cost of production in this country is so high that the use of hybrid seed by commercial growers is limited. You are assured of a quality product if you entrust your production to T. Sakata & Company who have the necessary technicians to make the most difficult crosses so accurately that in actual field tests of hybrid tomato seed, the number of self-pollinated seeds or escapes has been shown to be negligible. This production is accomplished in Japan at only a small fraction of the cost prevailing in this country.

If you have parent lines, T. Sakata & Company will produce crosses, furnishing you next fall with the carefully grown seed which will please your trade. For tomato seed, normal stock seed requirements are 1 oz. female and 1/4 oz. male for each 10 lbs. If you do not have your own parent stocks, you can still supply your trade with F<sub>1</sub> hybrid seed by using the lines T. Sakata & Company have developed for the American trade.

As orders for 1953 crop production should be placed promptly and stock seed forwarded to Japan, we look forward to hearing from you with your inquiries.

HYBRID TOMATO No. 68E

A true F<sub>1</sub> first generation hybrid, extremely early, produces a heavy crop of smooth, large, uniform fruits.
